Ohio Speech and Hearing Governmental Affairs Coalition
Legislative Activities Report
March 2018

After wrapping up work on a comprehensive congressional redistricting reform proposal (SJR 5), lawmakers turned their focus to the $2.63 billion capital appropriations measure for Fiscal Years 2019 and 2020. Hearings have already begun on companion bills (HB 529 and SB 266), which were introduced in each chamber in order to expedite the process. As expected, the details of the capital budget proposal have already been hashed out between the caucuses and administration and the legislature should have no problem meeting the April 1st deadline to have the capital bill passed and signed into law.

Governor Kasich delivered his final State of the State address on March 6th in Westerville, Ohio. Most of the speech focused on the six principles that he said guided his administration's work. Although his remarks were mostly aspirational, Gov. Kasich did specifically reference funding in the capital budget for a new behavioral health facility on the Twin Valley Behavioral Healthcare campus in Columbus. The facility will replace the 1977 center with high-quality care and improved safety for patients, staff, and the community. He also announced the creation of a new state park and wildlife area in Morgan and Muskingum counties, which will be named the Jesse Owens State Park and Wildlife Area. The park is possible thanks to the purchase of former AEP owned land. The new state park will begin at 13,000 acres and could ultimately grow to as many as 60,00 acres, making it the largest in the state.

On February 16th, Ohio Medicaid released its work requirement waiver application for public comment. You will recall that the biennial budget bill required Ohio Medicaid to seek a waiver that would allow them to require all expansion enrollees to work in order to maintain eligibility. More specifically, the language stated that Medicaid consumers in the expansion population (100% – 138% FPL) would lose eligibility unless they were in one of the following categories:

- Over 55;
- Employed or in a job training program;
- In school;
- In treatment; or
- Diagnosed with serious physical or mental health illnesses.

Medicaid contends that the waiver will not have the effect of kicking many consumers off Medicaid. Rather, they contend that the great majority of consumers already meet one of the waiver requirements. Their number suggest that the waiver requirements would only impact the 36,036 enrollees (5% of the expansion population) that do not otherwise qualify under one of the other waiver requirements. It is this 5% that would be required to find work in order to remain eligible in the expansion population. The waiver proposal is open for public comment until March 18th and GAC may want to consider submitting written comments.

Also, on the Medicaid front, GAC continues to work with ODM on revisions to the SGD rule. Our current focus is on how to handle rental vs. trial periods in order to allow for appropriate trial times without delaying approval of a device. We are also asking ODM to remove the phrase “useful life” of the SGD relative to replacement and intend to include the 5-year standard that appears in the rule appendix. The rule has not yet been filed with JCARR, so there is still opportunity to impact the drafting at this early stage before the formal process begins.

In the education arena, ODE held its second related services personnel shortage workgroup on March 14th. A lot of data was provided and summarized by Barb Conrad at ODE’s request. There are, however, still some unanswered data points, particularly involving exactly how many students are receiving each kind of service.

The workgroup also discussed taking a survey of superintendents to understand what incentives they would offer to related service personnel to attract them to hard-to-fill positions. Finally, the group moved up their timeline for progress and outcomes. They set two additional meetings for August and one for September. The goal is to have something put together before October, so it can be presented to ODE and Ohio Legislators.
